Senior Skip Day

Senior Skip Day takes place Friday, the 22nd. The Seniors are to start from the school house at 6:00 o'clock sharp Friday morning. They are to head for Kalkaska, from there to Traverse City, to Elk Rapids, to Petoskey, up the Indian trail to Cross Village, to Mackinaw, to Cheboygan, to Indian River, to Topinabee, to Wolverine, to Vanderbilt, to Gaylord, Frederic and Grayling. They plan to eat lunch at Petoskey.

The Grayling baseball team will meet the Rose City nine at the Grayling ball park Friday, May 22nd.

The Grayling boys are going out with victory in their hearts.

Grayling played Rose City May 8th and was defeated by a small score.

Rose City has a good ball club with their good pitchers and their hard hitters.

Grayling hasn't won a game this season, having lost to Mio, West Branch and Rose City. Grayling has all new men but three, pitcher, catcher and centerfield.

Grayling plays West Branch May 25th here and Coach Cushman is willing to bet five dollars that Grayling High will beat West Branch High.

Grayling lost to West Branch May 25th because of a little hard luck on the part of the fielders and second baseman.

SPECIAL MEMORIAL DAY SERVICES

MICHELSON MEMORIAL CHURCH SUNDAY, MAY 24TH

Sunday, May 24, is set aside as Memorial Day on the programme of Michelson Memorial church. The returned men are being invited to attend the morning service at 11 a. m. Dr. Edgar Flory, a recent graduate of Seminary, and one of the keenest minds in the District on the subject of WAR, is to be the special speaker in the morning service. His subject is "Living from Voices from the Dead." Special music will complete a great service.

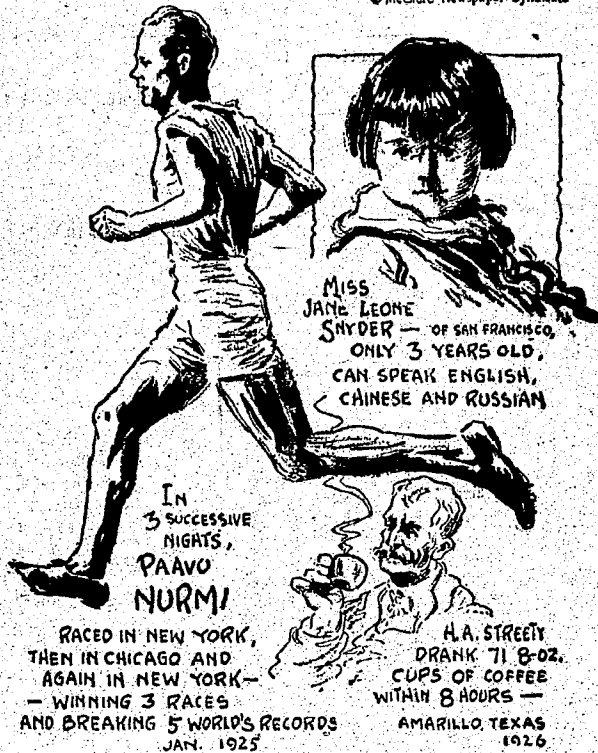

In the evening at 7:30 p. m. it is planned to show the pictures of Channing Pollock's great war picture "THE ENEMY." No one will want to miss this moving drama.

Everyone will want to keep Memorial Day by attending either or both of these special services.

An American woman says she was expelled from Russia for telling a joke on Stalin. We have been convinced for some time by reading their propaganda releases, that the Red chiefs have no sense of humor.

GRAYLING HIGH LOSES TO WEST BRANCH

Grayling's Northern Lights took a 13-2 trimming from West Branch high school last Friday down on the winners' diamond. The score was not close and probably reflected Grayling's lack of practice and coordination far more than it did great excellence on the part of West Branch.

Which is no effort to dim the record of Sheick, lanky twirler for the Branch. This two-headed Junior is on the way to a great high school record. He carried off the individual honor cup from the Grayling basketball tournament and then turned his attention to the great American pastime. So effective was his gunnery that the Northern Lights got but three hits from his delivery, one a triple by Gottho. He issued two walks and turned fifteen batters back to the bench on strikeouts. His victims of the strike-out act were chosen impartially from the Grayling line-up, only Gottho and Sheehey keeping clear of his wiles, while some of the boys breezed two and three times.

Sheehey served 'em up for Grayling and was facing a stacked deck from the start. His mates couldn't hit Sheick, and made seven errors behind him, though LaGrow turned in a double play as a fielding feature. The enemy were hitting however and raked the local port-sider for eleven bingles which easily accounted for the thirteen dents in the home plate made by the Branch.

All in all it was a sad day for the green and white. This week's rain will not have a beneficial influence on practice and the boys are facing a situation that is ominous to say the least.

BOYS AND GIRLS OF COUNTY WRITE ON STATE EXAMINATIONS

The usual number of boys and girls, light hearted and joyful, appeared at the high school buildings in Grayling and Frederic Thursday and Friday of last week to write for 7th grade certificates and 8th grade diplomas.

The examination in Frederic was in charge of Elmira Heath, examiner, and in Grayling was conducted by Pauline Edmonds, Pres. of the Board of Examiners, and John W. Payne, secretary.

The Board of Examiners met Saturday to divide the papers and to discuss matters for the best interest of the schools of Crawford County.

There will be another meeting of the Board of Examiners May 29 at the Commissioner's office in Grayling to grant 7th grade certificates and 8th grade diplomas and we sincerely hope that all the boys and girls will be successful.

There are usually a few that fail at this time and if such is the case we earnestly urge you to try again as defeat is many times the stepping stone to the greatest success.

John W. Payne,
Comm'r. of Schools.

GRAYLING DAIRY CHANGES HANDS

AMOS HUNTER NEW PROPRIETOR, TOOK POSSESSION TODAY

The Grayling Dairy is in new hands, Amos Hunter having taken possession this morning, after purchasing the plant from Axel M. Peterson, local county clerk.

The Grayling Dairy under the proprietorship of Mr. Peterson won a lot of patronage and has been one of Grayling's most valuable assets. For years Grayling was without a creamery, or until James McDonnell conceived the idea. After operating it for some years he sold out to Henry Klein, who in turn disposed of his interests to Alfred Bebb. The latter on moving to Durham, Ontario, a couple of years ago sold out to Axel Peterson.

The new proprietor, Amos Hunter, is a Crawford county boy, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hunter of Grayling. He attended the Frederic schools and later the Grayling school, graduating from the latter with the class of '28. He is the husband of a Grayling girl, who was formerly Matilda Stephan.

Although the business is a little new to him he is an enterprising young man and no doubt will keep the business up to its present high standard.

MILITARY RESERVATION TO HAVE SEVERAL NEW BUILDINGS

Mason Contractors On Job. Work to Take Couple of Months.

Several workmen are busy at the Military reservation where a number of new mess halls and kitchens are to be erected. A Mason firm, Whipple & Son have the contract and began work this week. There are about fifteen men on the job and it is expected it will take a couple of months to complete the work. The men are making their headquarters in Grayling, having rented the Peter Smith house on Cedar street.

A Chicago head waiter shoots two bandits while they are holding up the guests in a night club. Here is another ready-made plot for the talkies that will not be overlooked.

Golf News

The Grayling Golf course is now officially open and invites visitors at all times. The interest is great and the season opens with a number of new players, some of whom give promise of some low scores to come.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Powell are on the job and the club house has taken on a new inspiration. Large windows have been put in on the north and east sides of the concessions room, making it bright and cheery. Mrs. Powell says they will have sandwiches and coffee on the bill of fare soon, so that players may get lunches right on the grounds, and even come there purposely for lunches if so desired.

Since the opening day—May 16th, the Club has enjoyed visits from a number of out-of-town guests. Among them are the following: E. H. Cowan and family, M. J. Shoemaker, R. Brackett and E. M. Cowan, all of Bay City, and Gerald Powell and family of Detroit. Mr. Powell says he is surprised at the wonderful improvements in the course this year.

The number on the course last Saturday was 19. On Sunday 37 played and on Monday, 25. Tuesday it rained but a number dropped in at the Club house for a social chat with Mr. and Mrs. Powell. Altho the grounds were wet Wednesday, still a number made the round.

Several groups of pines have been planted along the fairways—nearly fifty trees have been put in. These already add to the beauty of the course and, as they grow, will add much attractiveness.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Golf Club met for their semi-monthly pot luck luncheon on Wednesday afternoon. After the business meeting, golf and bridge were played. A contest on holes 1 and 4 was held for the golfers, Mrs. C. G. Clippert winning the contest. Mrs. Nick Schjotz held the high score for bridge.

SPORTSMEN TOO MAY TAKE PART IN WATER CARNIVAL

The following letter received by T. W. Hanson from the chairman of sporting events of the Third Annual Eastern Michigan Water Carnival committee will prove interesting to local sportsmen:

Mr. T. W. Hanson,
Grayling, Mich.
Dear Sir:

On July 30-31st and August 1st, the third annual Eastern Michigan Water Carnival will be held in Bay City.

The executive committee of the carnival, at the insistence of many local sportsmen, have arranged this year to conduct a trap, rifle and pistol shoot also a bait and fly casting contest. These I believe will be a big feature and tend to create a lot of enthusiasm along this line.

As a member of the Bay Straits League and vice-president of Crawford County Sportsmen League, a cordial invitation is extended to you and members and friends in your county to participate in these events.

The trap shoot will be registered and held on Saturday, August 1st, on the land adjacent to Wenona Park. Some very good prizes in cash and trophies have already been selected. The program will be arranged so that all will have a chance to "bring home the bacon."

The rifle and pistol contest details have not been fully worked out as yet but has been authorized by the NRA and is being sponsored by the local gun club. We have assurances that there will be some very good teams entered in this event. I will be able to give you more details later.

The bait and fly casting will be held in the slip at Wenona Park. We are trying to get members of the Bay Straits League to act as judges. The committee members for this event are: Harry Schultz, Chairman, assisted by Dr. Wm. Kerr and Joseph Dubie, local angling enthusiasts.

What I would like you to do, is broadcast news of these events to your friends in your locality urging them to compete in these contests. I believe in the years to come these events will be a big part of the yearly water carnival program and should receive the support of the members of the Bay Straits League.

If you know of any of your friends who would like to enter in any of these events, kindly have them communicate with the writer or the Water Carnival headquarters in care of the Bay City Times.

Trusting to receive your support, I am

Yours very truly,

Leo D. Godderyne.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our mother who died two years ago Saturday, May 23.

The moon and stars are shining
On a lone and silent grave;
Beneath lies one we dearly loved
But whom we could not save.
Friends may think we have forgotten,
When at times they see us smile;
Little do they know the heartaches
That a smile hides all the while.

NEW ALUMNI ASS'N. INVITES MEMBERS

In an effort to interest every alumnus of Grayling High School in the new Alumni Club recently organized, the following letter has been mailed to all former graduates whose present names and addresses are known. However, there are still a number whom the club officers have been unable to locate, and therefore this form letter is being printed in the hope that all may see it.

Grayling, Michigan
May 18, 1931

Dear Alumnus:
Recently a number of local high school graduates held a "get-together" meeting for the purpose of organizing a club. The organization was given the name of "G.H.S. Alumni Association" and the dues were fixed at $1.00 per year, beginning June 1, 1931.

Many local alumni have already joined the organization, and we are sending this form letter to all out of town graduates, who we are able to locate, inviting you to become a member of this worthwhile association.

Won't you become a member? The dues being only $1.00 per year, it would seem that everyone can afford to belong.

Plans are under way for an Alumni banquet to be held early in June, tentative date set for June 9th, and if possible we would like to have you attend. Invitations will be mailed later. We want to make this a big event, and are looking forward to a large crowd.

Association dues are payable in advance and may be mailed to the Treasurer, Mr. Roy O. Milnes of this city. If we do not hear from you by July 1st we will assume that you do not care to join the association.

Please let us hear from you by early mail. Just your signature on this letter and your check attached is all that you need to do.

Cordially,
G. H. S. Alumni Association.
Per A. Ingeborg Hanson,
Secretary.

Any former graduate who has not received this letter, please communicate with the Secretary, giving your present name and address, in order that the records may be completed as early as possible.

It is hoped that every Alumnus will join the Association, and as many as possible come to the banquet.

SMOKERS 49.66% CAMPFIRES 6.40%

These figures show the percentages of forest fires caused in Michigan last year by carelessness on the part of persons travelling along the northern roads or camping in the woods.

It isn't necessary to comment on such figures. They speak for themselves. The smoker, with his burning cigarette butt, cigar butt, pipe heel and match, caused almost half of the 4,600 fires that burned over a quarter million of Michigan's acres last year. The persons who caused these fires, by their carelessness, destroyed the very things that brought them to northern Michigan—cool green woods, plenty of cover for birds and animals, and mile after mile of natural beauty.

When it comes to getting married it's better to pick a girl who can wield a wicked needle at the sewing club than it is one who can shake a wicked ankle, at the night club.

NORTH. SANATORIUM TO BE BUILT

A state tuberculosis sanatorium, intended primarily to serve this and 36 other counties in the northern Lower and eastern Upper Peninsula, will be built sometime after July 1, 1932.

This fact was definitely assured on Thursday, May 14, when the House of Representatives duplicated the previous day's action of the Senate in voting to over-ride the governor's action of the malt bill, providing funds for constructing the institution. Both houses previously had passed a measure providing for its establishment.

"For years one of the cherished hopes of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association has been for the establishment of a state sanatorium in Northern Michigan," stated T. J. Werle, executive secretary of the Association, in commenting on passage of the sanatorium and malt tax bills. "Enactment of this legislation undoubtedly represents the most important advance Michigan has made in years in its fight against the Great White Plague."

The campaign for the new sanatorium, long recognized as a necessity in the state's institutional equipment for treatment of tuberculosis, took definite form in August of last year when, at the request of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, delegates appointed by the boards of supervisors of the interested counties met at Grayling and formed the Northern Michigan Sanatorium Association.

With the opening of the Legislature, Speaker of the House Fred Ming and other influential members of the House and Senate began active work in the Legislature for the institution. Ming's early plan of meeting its cost through the malt tax eventually proved to be the basis for passage of the measure.

The new sanatorium will provide care reasonably close to the homes of patients from this area and will relieve a statewide shortage of sanatorium beds.

It's no wonder we get hard boiled. Most of us are in hot water a greater part of the time.

DOINGS OF MICH. LEGISLATURE

The Senate was still juggling figures in the budget bill as the Michigan Legislature embarked on the last week of the present session. The deliberations of the law-makers have extended over a period of 20 weeks, during which time a record number of bills have been introduced in both branches. Many of the bills never reached final passage, however, and the number actually signed by Gov. Brucker will compare well with the average of recent sessions. Also the bulk of the new laws are local in their application, to meet some definite purpose in some village, city or county. An effort was being made to adjourn by Wednesday, with chances that the end would come Friday.

May Tap New Sources.
The indefiniteness of the final total of the budget figures for the next two years hinges on the adoption of the plan to divert at least $3,000,000 of highway funds for general state purposes. This move was set in motion late in the last week in the Senate and there remained doubt as to whether the House members would agree.

Gov. Brucker announced that the passage of the malt tax over his veto was not satisfactory insofar as meeting his ultimatum that the legislature must find new sources of revenue to relieve the property tax. He had announced that unless the tax problem was settled satisfactorily he would call a special session to deal with the matter of finances. The last-minute attempt to make use of some of the road funds was regarded as an effort to meet the Governor's purpose. There was much outside opposition to such diversion.

The Senate was also urged to pass the House bill providing for a $1.00 rod license fee for all anglers above the age of 18 years.

Urges Spending Check.
A special message from the Governor urged the passage of the Culver bill, patterned after the Indiana plan, and providing that the state tax commission may review expenditures of any municipality having a debt of 30 per cent of its delinquent taxes, or having a tax rate of 4 per cent, upon petition signed by three per cent of the taxpayers. The bill had been defeated once in the House, lacking three votes for passage, but after receipt of the Governor's message it was taken from the table and approved, 87 to 25. Action in the Senate is being pushed in the face of opposition from the mayor and other leaders in Detroit. Most of the upper peninsula members also opposed the bill, claiming that it provided for state interference in local home rule. The Governor's championing of the cause was explained by the growing tendency of extending state aid to local community projects tending to encourage waste unless the state may have a voice in the manner in which the money is being spent.

The vote on the malt tax veto came under a call of the House, bringing in every member to vote who could be reached. In this way 98 of the members were brought together, the vote resulting in the passage by a 71 to 27 vote. The Senate had previously overridden the veto 25 to 4. The $2,250,000 estimated to be derived from the tax will be used to make up a deficit of over a million owed by the state to tuberculosis sanatoriums under the law providing $1.00 a day for indigent patients; $400,000 for a tuberculosis sanatorium to be built in the northern part of the lower peninsula in the next two years. Any surplus is to be used for the care of tuberculosis patients.

Pay Ming Tribute.
By a concurrent resolution adopted in the House, the new sanatorium is to be named the "Ming State Tuberculosis Sanatorium." Passage of the malt tax with provision for the new state institution was generally accepted as the result of the long and tireless campaign waged by Fred Ming, speaker of the House. Its acceptance over the gubernatorial veto was also a tribute to the confidence members repose in the man who presides over them in their sessions. Mr. Ming was visibly affected by the display of confidence in his behalf, and the tears of a strong man overcome with joy were to be seen by those who rushed into his private office to congratulate him. Later the Senate moved to insert the name of Senator Campbell of Indian River in the resolution, proposing to give the institution the name of Ming-Campbell. This action was not regarded favorably in the House, though it was acknowledged that Senator Campbell had lent the measure his support.

The tax calls for a levy of 5 cents a pound on malt extract or syrup and 6c per gallon on wort, or diluted malt; a registration fee of $5 annually by manufacturer or dealer in the product; and $5 per vehicle used exclusively in the business of selling, manufacturing, or transporting the product.

Indulge in "Fun."
Working fast to dispose of the large volume of legislation awaiting attention, the House last week voted favorably on many measures, disposing of as many as 20 bills within an hour. But it stalled for longer than that time on a single measure, one sponsored by Rep. Culver proposing to regulate the type of cans to be used in the sale and distribution of malt. Members from Wayne County were divided, some claiming that the bill was intended to favor manufacturers of certain types of cans. Several amendments were tacked onto the measure, one of them by Rep. Hartley, dry leader from Saginaw, providing that buyers of malt should make affidavit that they did not intend to make a beverage in violation of the liquor laws. After long and heated debate, the bill was sent back to the committee on health, of which Rep. Culver is chairman.

Another fun-making vote was that approving by affirmative vote, the bill of Rep. John Dykstra, Muskegon, prohibiting married women from holding jobs. There has been much fun provoked every time this measure was up for consideration, but Rep. Dykstra was inclined to be serious all the while and he was prevailed upon to allow himself, pushing a baby buggy, to be escorted to the Senate conveying the measure for action in that body. Both houses and many spectators were being well entertained, waiting for a speech from the sponsor of the measure, when Lieut. Gov. Dickinson sent word that such by-play was not worthy the dignity of the Senate. The crowd dispersed rapidly and the law-makers went back to their work.

Old Age and Poll Tax.
The House, seemingly undisturbed by the cold reception of its several new tax measures sent to the Senate, last week adopted an old age pension bill introduced by Rep. Haight of Lansing, and providing that funds be derived by the collection of a poll tax of one dollar.

The vote on the measure was close, 53 to 42, and many of those voting negatively explained their vote by saying that their opposition was due to the manner in which it was proposed to provide for the necessary funds. Also, some of them contended, the $2,000,000 estimated to be available through the poll tax, would not be nearly enough to pay $30 a month to all over 70 years of age, the limit set in the bill. The Senate is not taking the bill seriously, due mostly to the pressure of providing revenue for projects already contracted for.

Fenner Pulls "Boner."

The prize for the outstanding "boner" play of the session is readily being awarded to C. V. Fenner, secretary of the Home Defense League, who conducted an active lobby for the passage of the sales tax bill. The honor, if such it may be called, was being admitted by friend and foe of the measure.

Fenner wrote a letter to Governor Brucker in which he chided the chief executive for his failure to more actively espouse the sales tax idea, and offering to guarantee $10,000 for the next campaign fund, as well as other support in the election, if he would actively support the sales tax. Fenner intimated that he was not so much concerned with the passage of the measure as he was to make some impression on the home town merchants who had been asked to contribute to a lobbying fund, with a promise that the chief executive was for the sales tax plan.

Whatever chance the sales tax had of being taken up again was killed by the move. "I have not taken a position in favor of this or any other tax measure, regardless of inferences or reports to the contrary," the Governor announced in connection with publication of the contents of the Fenner letter. Rep. McBride of Shiawassee county had also received a copy of the letter to the Governor, and he not only was indignant at the treatment accorded Gov. Brucker, but announced that he would have nothing more to do with the sales tax at this session. There was some demand for bringing charges against Fenner but the Governor took a more lenient attitude, declaring it was written "in the heat of anger."

Leave Mill Tax Alone.

The Senate has indicated that it will not disturb the mill tax provided for the support of the University of Michigan and Michigan State college. After the Callaghan bill, limiting each school, had been reported out in the Senate, the bill was sent to committee upon the request of Senator Engle and there it is expected to remain. This would allow the payment of the full amount of the eight-tenths of a mill for the U. of M. and two-tenths of a mill tax for State College. The Lake City senator, in a sincere plea, announced that he had arrived at his conclusions after careful study of the needs of the schools.

Two bills designed to reduce the redemption period following the sale of mortgaged property were passed by the House but a hearing was called before the Senate judiciary committee in which considerable opposition developed. Real estate dealers from Detroit and other cities are working strongly in favor of the bills, but representatives of Detroit taxpayers and publishers of home town papers from all over the state have pointed out the danger of this legislation, particularly at this time, and are urging that the bills be allowed to die in committee.

IS OVERJOYED AT SARGON RESULTS

"I was awfully rundown, mainly on account of an inactive liver that kept me constipated and full of toxic poisons. Nervousness kept me from getting any restful sleep and I had a tired, worn-out feeling continually. I'm simply overjoyed at the results I've gotten from this marvelous Sargon! The liquid, taken along with the Sargon Pills, cleared my system of poisons and rid me of constipation and liver trouble entirely. I sleep like a child since my nerves settled and I always feel well and energetic."—Mrs. Russell, Valleeau, 4410 15th St., Detroit.

Cow-Country Songs

Cowboy songs are interesting chiefly as human documents, for the light they throw on the conditions of frontier life, and for their reflection of the old-time cattle-harsh and his crew. The whole cycle of the cowboy's experience—its monotony, its fun, its heroics, its love affairs, its dangers and the epic of the long drives overland from Texas to Montana—is set forth in the songs made and sung by the men themselves.

A bad wind in the form of a cyclone struck the southwest half of Grayling Monday evening about six o'clock, and for a few minutes the air was full of dust and sand. Two globes from the boulevard lights were blown to the ground and smashed to pieces, and several trees and the flagpole at the South side school were blown down. A couple of pieces of tile were wiped off of the top of the Burke garage and large branches were torn off of trees. The storm seemed to strike just the one side of town and came so suddenly that one hardly had time to get under shelter. Several people who were on the streets say that they had to find something to hang on to to keep on their feet.

Prominent among the thousands of concerns using large fleets of Chevrolets are many of the leaders of American industry. In fact, 73 outstanding business firms have purchased a total of 27,605 Chevrolet cars and trucks.

The reason for this preference lies in the unexcelled economy of Chevrolet cars and trucks, as proved by official cost records. These records show that 20 miles to the gallon is a common occurrence among Chevrolet cars. That oil expense is extremely low. That Chevrolet cars and trucks require only a minimum of service attention. That they give satisfactory low-cost service over exceptionally long periods of time.

Naturally, a car with such a fine record of economy represents an extremely wise investment for any buyer! Especially so, when you consider the many advantages that Chevrolet offers above and beyond economical operation. Come in and learn what these advantages are—what they mean in terms of style, comfort, safety, reliability and value.

Memory of Older 'Decoration' Day

There was a time, within the memory of those of us who have reached the age of discretion, when Memorial day was a fine holiday indeed, with lively goings-on to impress its significance upon us. In the morning Main street would blossom out in a magnificent array of red, white and blue, and all through the forenoon there would be a hum in the air that betokened enterprises of great pith and moment; ladies would dart hither and yonder carrying great baskets of sandwiches, and horses would trot up the street dragging carriages full of folk from the country. In the lunch hour there was a lull while the sandwiches were being consumed; but by the zero hour, 2 o'clock in the afternoon, everything was ready and things began to happen.

On the town green assembled the town carpenter, the keeper of the livery stable, the owner of the Acme furniture store, the town constable, the president of the First National bank, the teacher of mathematics in the high school, the driver of the express wagon, the agent at the steamboat wharf and the judge of the Circuit court—prosperous old gentlemen all, and on other days of the calendar dignitaries to be greeted respectfully but with no great show of awe. Today, however, they were an air of vast importance; they were togged in blue suits of impressive cut, somehow reminiscent of the pictures in the history book, and they wore hats of the sort affected by the late William Frederick Cody, whereof the crown was adorned with a gold wreath and the letters "G. A. R." lending a very military appearance to the whole turnout.

Order of March.

These assembled together with many lesser fry also attired in uniforms of various colors and cuts; and presently, after a marchal wearing a red sash had ridden up and down for a while on a black horse, there was a bugle call and the parade assembled. The order of march was as follows:

His Honor the Mayor.
Orpheus Silver Cornet Band.
Grand Army of the Republic.
Water Witch Fire Company.
Semper Fidelis Fire Company.
Red Men.

Junior Order United American Mechanics.
Short Pants Brigade (predecessors of the modern Boy Scouts, and every bit as patriotic).

When all these had been formed in to line the march to the cemetery began. As to what took place there the memory of most of us will be hazy. Suffice it to say that the exercises, while somewhat puzzling as to their import, were appreciably vociferous, and when they had come to an end we all felt that a great deal had been accomplished. On the way back to town, if there was not a thunderstorm, there was a great deal of dust, so that the blue uniforms, so impressive in the afternoon, were by evening the least bit bedraggled.

Younger Folks Take Charge.

Or were they? Perhaps they only seemed so. For by this time the becom-who wore them were quite forgotten; the evening was given over to a town dance, and the young people were in full charge. Valiantly the veterans tried to hold the limelight. The President of the First National bank walked up to the post office to get his mail, his blue coat changed for an alpaca but his military hat still in place; and not one of the girls fluttering through the dusk paid the least bit of attention to him. His comrades stood around on the street corners retelling great stories as inducement to all who would stop and listen; but few stopped and hardly any listened. Their stories had all been heard before, and nobody seemed to see their hats. Occasionally one of them tried a brave buck-and-wing to harmonica accompaniment, but his whoops died quickly as the fiddles tuned up in the town hall.

Civil War's Great Issues.

Now things haven't changed much, except that the young people take charge early in the morning and there doesn't seem to be any time for the old veterans at all. Many a town has not a single Grand Army member left; in the few towns where one or two survive the march to the cemetery is usually omitted, for it has been found that at the age of eighty-five the strain of listening to vociferous exercises may be too much even for a heart that went through Shiloh. Thus the day tends to become more and more a somnolent formality, a legal holiday which allows tired citizens to take a trip in an automobile with a flag stuck in the radiator cap. Perhaps this is just as well. For the Civil war is unique among our country's great wars in this respect: the issues which it decided seem remote, fantastic and without application in this day. On the Fourth of July—as we listen to the Declaration of Independence—the principles which it enunciates seem startlingly close at hand; we rub our eyes and realize that this document of the immortal signatures is very much alive today. On Armistice day, as we listen to the "Fourteen Points," the World war seems almost to be going on yet; these "Fourteen Points" still form the basis of statesmen's deliberations, and how they are to be applied is still a vital matter. In many places on the earth. But on Memorial day, as we listen to the Gettysburg speech, everything seems hazy. Union? Slavery? Is it possible that Americans fought over them? Did the great conflict settle anything which would not have settled itself had we been patient enough to wait a little longer?—New York World.

With so many people out of a job it ought not be difficult to get hold of a good speaker for the lower house of Congress.

KNOWING HOW TO STOP

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

In old Norse mythology there is the story of a poor man who through bargaining with the devil came into possession of a quern, which is a sort of ancient coffee mill. This quern was capable of grinding out anything that it was told to grind—meat and drink and dainties of all sorts. It would grind lights and cutlery and tablecloths and gold even if it were told to do so.

The poor man had a rich brother who, when he saw the luxuries with which the once indigent member of the family was now surrounded, became curious and envious.

"Whence in h—l's name have you got all this wealth?" he asked, and so persistent was he in his inquiries that he finally wormed from his brother the secret of the quern. Seeing its possibilities he was not satisfied until he had possessed himself of it, which he did upon the payment of a large sum of money.

It was evening when the rich brother got the quern home, and next morning, it being the time of hay harvest, he sent his wife out into the hay field to turn over the hay which was being cut that it might be more quickly dry, and he agreed to stay at home and get the dinner. When dinner time came he put the quern upon the table and said:

"Grind herrings and broth and grind them good and fast."

The quern began to grind until the table was covered and the kitchen floor, and he was forced to open the door to let the flood of herrings and broth out. He had learned how to start the machine but he had neglected to discover how it could be stopped and the yard and the streets and the fields were in danger of being covered with herrings and broth like a great lava stream. It was only when he rushed frantically to his brother that the quern was stopped.

A TRIBUTE TO SERVICE

In a recent address on the 25th anniversary of the San Francisco fire, William Butterworth, President of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, said: "Fire insurance is a very essential part of American business. It constitutes an important foundation of credit, of industry, merchandising and of shipping. To-day it protects some 240 billion dollars worth of property."

When the home has been laid in ashes, insurance has provided the needed shelter and aided in building anew. When the property that has been accumulated, great or small, has been destroyed by flames, insurance has helped make good the loss. Against practically all the destructive contingencies that assail life or property, health, or security against disaster, insurance is the ready and the strong protector.

In other words, stock fire insurance is the cornerstone of all business, of all social and industrial existence and progress. Without the protection afforded by insurance, the modern world, as we know it, could not exist. The builder, the investor, the employed would be constantly facing a grave and ruinous hazard that could in a few minutes time, wipe out the work of years. American and world civilization owe a tremendous debt to the institution of insurance.

Don't leave any cereal in the house when shutting the house for a vacation, however short. It is better to give away small remnants than to have to combat weevils on your return. Weevils getting into one kind of food may spread to your floor or any other cereal foods not in tight glass or tin containers.

Before washing a sweater, measure it and write down the dimensions. After it is washed and rinsed, spread it, back side down, with sleeves out, stretched, on several thicknesses of clean, soft material. Shape it according to the original dimensions. Turn occasionally until dry.

Waffles served with crushed strawberries make a good dessert for this time of year. Add cream if you like, plain or whipped. Sweeten the batter a little more than usual.

Always iron with the thread of the goods and iron until the garment is dry. Otherwise it will pucker. To remove the shiny gloss on home, tacks, or seams, moisten a piece of soft cloth in clear water, wring it dry, and wipe it quickly over the shiny surface.

Do you know poke shoots? They grow wild in many localities. The young, tender shoots and tips of the more mature stalks are excellent as greens. Because of the slightly bitter taste, the first water is usually thrown away after the poke shoots have boiled a few minutes. Do not overcook them. Serve in any way asparagus is served.

An oblong kitchen is considered preferable to a square one for saving space and consequently for reducing the necessary walking about. On the two long sides opposite each other can be grouped most of the larger equipment in logical working sequence. The test for waste space in a floor plan is seeing whether the equipment can be packed into a smaller well-lighted area in the same relative positions, leaving room enough to work comfortably.

SCENIC BEAUTY ATTRACTS THOUSANDS ANNUALLY

Michigan's forests represent potential millions of dollars to the people of the state. Our scenic beauties are one of the principal drawing points for the great numbers of tourists who annually come here. When we destroy these places of scenic beauty with forest fire, we destroy our principal stock in trade for one of Michigan's greatest industries.

We wouldn't intentionally toss a cigarette into a pile of inflammable material in the factory in which we earned our living. We shouldn't carelessly set fire to a forest that is a financial asset to thousands of Michigan people who earn their livings from the tourist industry. Yet half of all of our forest fires last year resulted from the fact that lit cigarettes, cigars and cigarette butts and pipe "heaps" were tossed away without a thought.

IN congratulating the winners in the great Camel contest we want at the same time to thank most cordially the approximately million men and women who displayed their friendly interest by sending in an entry.

We wish also to thank the millions of smokers throughout the country for the appreciation they are showing for our new Humidor Pack as is evidenced by the notable increase in the sale of Camel cigarettes.

By means of this dust-proof, germ-proof, moisture-proof Cellophane wrapping the rich aroma and full flavor of choice Turkish and mellow Domestic tobaccos have been air-sealed in Camels for your enjoyment.

If you have not tried Camels in the Humidor Pack all we ask is that you switch over to this brand for one day.

After you have learned how much milder, how much cooler, how much more enjoyable it is to smoke a perfectly conditioned fresh cigarette, go back to the harsh hotness of stale cigarettes if you can.

Cottage cheese for sandwiches may be moistened with a little cream, with salad dressing, or with lemon juice.

Plan to make several sun suits or sun suit ensembles for the little runabouts this spring. The sun suit becomes a cool undergarment when the over-blouse or dress is put on.

When drop cakes spread out too much in baking the trouble is sometimes that the oven is not hot enough, rather than that the mixture is too soft. Drop cakes bake best on a baking sheet without high sides, or on an inverted pan.

Don't leave any cereal in the house when shutting the house for a vacation, however short. It is better to give away small remnants than to have to combat weevils on your return. Weevils getting into one kind of food may spread to your floor or any other cereal foods not in tight glass or tin containers.

Before washing a sweater, measure it and write down the dimensions. After it is washed and rinsed, spread it, back side down, with sleeves out, stretched, on several thicknesses of clean, soft material. Shape it according to the original dimensions. Turn occasionally until dry.

Waffles served with crushed strawberries make a good dessert for this time of year. Add cream if you like, plain or whipped. Sweeten the batter a little more than usual.

Always iron with the thread of the goods and iron until the garment is dry. Otherwise it will pucker. To remove the shiny gloss on home, tacks, or seams, moisten a piece of soft cloth in clear water, wring it

WHO CARES?

"What if there is a forest fire? It isn't my property!"

This attitude on the part of many people has lost Michigan unnumbered acres of beautiful and valuable timber lands.

To prevent a forest fire is not a matter of ethics or of conscience entirely. It is a matter of dollars and cents.

There is an old slogan that says: "When timber burns, everybody loses." This slogan was never more true than it is today. The tourist industry, attracted to Michigan because of its great forests and its places of unspoiled scenic beauty, puts money in everybody's pocket, from the butcher and the baker to the mechanic and the merchant.

Our carelessness with fire in the woods may cost us money.

VILLAGE DESTROYED! MAN KILLED!

A village is caught in the path of raging flames and is destroyed, its inhabitants made destitute and homeless! A man is burned to death before he can escape the fury of a fire.

Such instances as these cause us to gasp. They form sensational news.

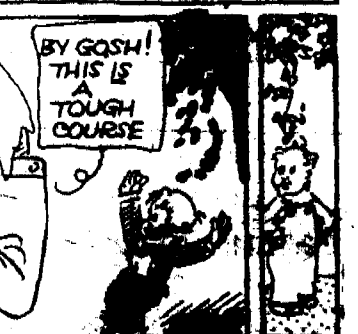

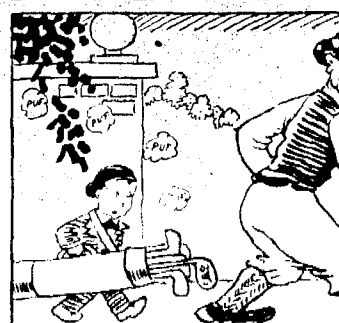

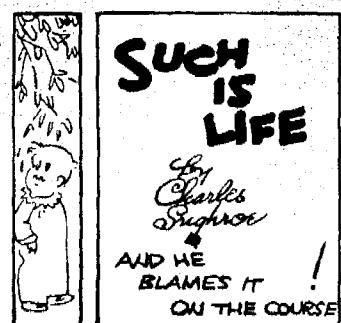

But every day during such a season as this, forest fires are carrying on their work of destruction, blazing over beautiful forests that represent thousands of dollars in valuable timber; that offer game cover for Michigan's wild life; that offer a major attraction for tourists and visitors; that give us places for recreation and out-of-door enjoyment.

We unintentionally cause most of these fires. Carefulness with fire in the woods is an obligation to the state and to our neighbors.

As we go to press (Wednesday), we learn that the saw mill of T. E. Douglas & Co., at Lovells was entirely consumed by fire this morning, together with a large quantity of shingle and cedar. Details of loss or insurance cannot be obtained at this time.

Mrs. John Everett, with her niece, Mrs. Mary Carl were driving Sunday, and just as they were on the bridge near the mill, a number of boys who were fishing suddenly raised their poles frightening the horse, which turned squarely around throwing both ladies from the carriage. Mrs. Everett was severely bruised and shocked so that she had to be carried home on a stretcher. Dr. Insley reports that though the injury is painfully severe, he does not think it positively dangerous.

E. Cobb of Maple Forest was in the village last Friday, jolly as ever, but not quite as fat. He reports everything fine and dandy.

The new steamer Thomas Barlum last week loaded 240,497 bushels of wheat and 170,000 bushels of oats at South Chicago. This is said to be the largest cargo of grain ever shipped from Chicago.

that the weather has been such as to put the farm work on the farm all in a heap.

R. Hanson is erecting a building for the Danish Lutheran society and the Ladies Aid society connected to be used for their Sunday School and library gymnasium. It will be 36x66 ft. and 20 ft. above, a 9 ft. basement. Work has already begun and will be rapidly pushed to completion. Architect Miller of Saginaw having charge of the work.

A railroad log train was badly wrecked about a mile north of Frederic one day last week, by a log falling from a car about the center of the train, derailing eleven cars and piling them and their loads promiscuously. Several trains had to run from Frederic to Alba and from there via the G. R. I. road to Mackinaw before the track was cleared. It took 400 ties to relay the track. No one was injured.

Tribute to the Poilu at Verdun

In telling the story of the battle of Verdun I have tried to trace the parts played by the leaders, but I pass quickly now to the man to whom victory was due—the soldier of Verdun.

"Our next victories depend upon your heroic resistance," Joffre had told the poilu; and the latter's measure was taken at Verdun, for nowhere else in all the atrocious war was such an abyss of torment in store for him. "He has learned much who has known pain," wrote the author of "The Song of Roland"; and there was such pain and suffering at Verdun as had never been known before. Verdun was the great charnel house where it was necessary to stand firm with death overhead, under foot and on all sides.

The soldier of Verdun was unquestionably well commanded and well maneuvered; yet to such leaders were given incomparable soldiers. These soldiers stood fast in mud, cold, snow and under torrents of fire against numberless attacks. Tormented with weariness, with broken arms and legs, almost isolated and often without news of the progress of the battle, they remained at their posts, barring the road to France.

I saw a whole line of dead runners, staking out the path from Fort Vaux; they had played leapfrog with death. I saw, beneath the hail of gas shells on June 22, 1916, during the preparations for what was perhaps Verdun's most ghastly day, a first aid station near Souville, foggy with poison gas and crowded with wounded in masks, dying in masks, attended by masked chaplains; and it was like a descent into hell.

Verdun's soldier was Verdun's martyr. How can one cite any outstanding deeds among so many thousands, without committing an injustice? In order to plant a cheval de frise in front of the lines, a man leaps from a trench. He is killed. A second. He is killed. A third. He is killed. A fourth finally succeeds in establishing the barrier. None had hesitated before certain death.

Of these sufferings, of this splendid feat of effort, sacrifice, courage, endurance and daring, the radiant beauty of Verdun is composed. Like that of cathedrals, it is an anonymous work. As in cathedrals there are bits of sculpture which the light of day never bathes and which no one beholds, so in the battle of Verdun are forgotten splendors and marvels which will remain forever unknown. Each of our cities, each of our villages, made its offering to rebuild Verdun. Verdun was built by the whole of France, yet, instead of bearing stones to the monument, each city, village and hamlet furnished its dead and mutilated. It is a monument of flesh and blood—of French flesh and blood.

To the pilgrims who come to these scenes to evoke the bloody and immortal past, the country about the fortress appears as a great cathedral whose columns spring from the sacred hills—Domremont, Vaux, Hardemont and Mort-Homme—and rise to the celestial vault, itself—the only roof worthy to cap such grief and such glory—Henry Bordeaux in L'Illustration, Paris (Translated for the Kansas City Star).

Farm Notes

Feed the dairy heifer enough grain—in addition to pasture—so she will gain from 1 to 1½ pounds a day.

Do not let mature rabbits get too fat unless you are going to utilize them for food. Overfat animals often fail to breed and may die from excessive heat. Young rabbits, while growing, may be fed twice a day all they will clean up in 30 minutes.

The potato leafhopper injures potatoes by feeding on the foliage and also causes "hopperburn," a disease which sometimes in dry weather ruins a whole potato crop in one or two weeks. Spraying with Bordeaux, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture, is the way to control the leafhopper and prevent hopperburn. The 4-4-50 formula is used most commonly. Make at least three applications and spray a fourth time if necessary. Apply the spray to the undersides of the leaves on both sides of the row, using at least 150 pounds of pressure to obtain a fine mist.

Feeding a grain supplement with pasture to young cattle—whether fattening 2-year-old steers or nursing calves—tends to produce heavier and more highly finished carcasses in a shorter time, than on grass alone, the Bureau of Animal Industry found. Feeding grain to spring calves before weaning increases their weight and finish enough to permit their sale as fat young heifers in the fall when they are about 8 months old. It is not possible to produce a desirable beef carcass at this age on grass and milk alone, says the bureau.

White rot of onion is relatively new to America. It is a disease which may be brought into this country on onions and garlic imported from Europe, where it is widespread and destructive. Any outbreak of this disease should be reported, and specimens of diseased plants sent to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. White rot usually appears in cool, moist weather in spring or autumn. The first signs are yellowing and wilting of the leaves, followed later by complete collapse of the top. Diseased plants may be pulled up very easily, as the roots are almost entirely destroyed.

The farmer can't know the true value of his dairy bulls until he has records of the bulls' daughters, says the Bureau of Dairy Industry of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. "Select bulls whose pedigrees indicate that they have a good chance of possessing an inheritance that will determine high levels of production," advises the bureau. "Use them in a limited way until their daughters prove their value, let the butcher have the bulls that do not come up to a certain standard, and keep in service only those that have demonstrated their ability to improve the herd."

Sweet Cream Butter.
Butter made of pasteurized sweet cream keeps much better than that made from raw ripened cream. Pasteurize the cream by putting shotgun cans or pails containing the cream in a wash boiler or other container partly filled with water and heat on the stove. Stir the cream frequently while heating. Heat to a temperature of from 145 degrees to 150 degrees F. and keep it at this temperature for 25 to 30 minutes. Cool it as quickly as possible to 50 degrees F. or lower, keeping it at this temperature for at least three hours before churning so that the butter granules will be firm. The cream is churned in the same way as when ripened raw cream is used. It is desirable to churn for at least 30 minutes to avoid loss of fat in the buttermilk.

Statue Held Symbol of

Unity of Two Peoples
Senor Daniel V. del Burgo, consul general of Chile in this country, has given a most interesting description of "The Christ of the Andes," the inspiring sculpture which stands at a mountainous elevation of 4,000 meters (13,000 feet) on the Chilean-Argentine frontier, says the newspaper La Verdad, of Caracas, Venezuela. Senor del Burgo says of this appealing figure that the suggestion for its establishment came from seeing the Statue of Liberty in New York harbor. It is seven meters high (23 feet) and weighs three tons. It can be perceived for many kilometers on all the routes connecting the two republics of Argentina and Chile and is held in veneration by the peoples of both nations because it was erected, in 1902, to seal and commemorate the peaceful settlement of the final disputes between the two great South American republics. It was the women of these two countries who collected most of the funds necessary to defray the cost of the statue and its transportation and erection and whose influence was most exerted on the respective governments to provide a site and perpetual maintenance for the monument. "The Christ of the Andes" stands in a lonely and desolate spot, much the same, no doubt, as the wilderness in which "The Man of Sorrows" spent 40 days of his life in prayer and fasting. Yet the statue is not really lonely nor deserted, but visited constantly by thousands in their journeys to and fro, who call it, too, "The Christ of Amity." For this statue is the symbol of the bonds of friendship which henceforth and forever knit these two peoples together in a Christian fellowship.

THE TREE SURGEON SAYS
The trees have not as yet begun to demand any food from the soil. They are now using up the food which was stored in the roots last fall. The leaves were also set at the end of last year's growing season and had only to break out of the bud and then expand to their normal size. A leaf never adds additional cells to its structure. In a short time however the stored food will become exhausted, at that time an enormous demand will be thrown on the roots to supply the necessary food. In many instances the food will not be available this year. The only way to remedy this condition is to apply fertilizer, suitable for and available to the tree.

A generous bottle of "Kruschen Salts" that lasts 4 weeks costs but 85 cents at Mac & Gidley's or any drug store in America—take one half teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—cut out pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—that will help Kruschen take off your fat. Take Kruschen every morning—it's the little daily dose that does it—if not joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back.

News Review of Current Events the World Over

President Hoover Orders Drastic Economies in Departments—Old Military Posts May Be Abandoned—Briand Is Defeated.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

PRESIDENT HOOVER has notified the members of the cabinet that they must introduce economies in their departments wherever possible. The civilian personnel is to be reduced and the overhead expenses cut drastically. The message went out after the President, had conferred with Secretary of War Hurley and Secretary of the Navy Adams, and it is evident he expects many of the economies to be made effective in those departments.

Surveys have been recently made indicating how savings could be made by the sale of old Indian posts, navy shore stations, coast artillery fortifications, and yards and other shore properties of the navy that are no longer needed for purposes of national defense. Secretary Hurley said the other day that the administration desired to remove army posts from the "hork barrel" classification, and it seems that among those considered superfluous are Fort Lincoln, North Dakota; Fort Meade, South Dakota; Fort Missoula, Montana; Fort Euclid, Virginia, and various posts along the Mexican border. Some air flying fields, also may be abandoned. How far the economies of the military establishments can be cut is problematical. The last annual supply bill for the War department carried about $445,000,000, of which approximately $111,000,000 was to be devoted to nonmilitary activities. The latter figure included $30,000,000 for rivers and harbors and $35,000,000 for Mississippi floor control.

As for the navy, it is known that civilian labor cost that department $79,000,000 last year. Some official investigators have estimated the Navy department personnel at Washington could be cut as much as 40 per cent without impairing efficiency. Congressmen in whose states are located the obsolete army posts and surplus shore stations probably will fight against their abandonment, that being their habit in matters of this sort, but if economies are applied throughout all the executive departments their political wrath may be unavailing.

FRED C. CROXTON, vice chairman of the President's emergency committee for unemployment, stated that during the week ending May 9 contracts were awarded for public and semi-public work amounting to $27,904,709. This brought the total since December 1, 1930, to nearly a billion and a half.

ter Aristide Briand was persuaded by his friends to be a candidate for the presidency of the French republic and then some of those friends let him down. The result was that he failed of election on the first ballot and, astounded and broken hearted, he withdrew from the contest. Paul Doumer, venerable president of the senate, was elected. This action by the French parliament was of importance not only to France but to Europe and all the world. It means that for the present at least Briand's policy of peace and conciliation is discarded and the nationalists are in the saddle. It is possible Briand will continue to represent his government in the debates of the League of Nations at Geneva, but if he does he will be subject to daily orders from Paris. More likely it is that he will soon retire to Cocherel, his home. He has been in poor health for many months and it is feared this defeat will break him down badly. Andre Tardieu and Edouard Herriot, leaders of the left, are held mainly responsible for the rejection of Briand.

ANTI-CLERICALS of Spain, egged on by communists and very possibly by monarchist plotters, staged violent riots in Madrid and other cities for several days, and the government was forced to proclaim martial law. The mobs directed their attacks against Catholic churches and other religious edifices and burned many of them. Monks and nuns were beaten and driven through the streets, and in some cases the troops that were called out refused to move against the rioters, telling their officers they would not fire on the people.

Angel Galarza, the republic's prosecutor, declared the riots were the result of a carefully laid monarchist plot and that there would be a monarchist trial of captured royalists in which former King Alfonso will be judged. In his absence, for complicity the Vatican state department instructed Papal Nunco Tedeschini at Madrid to demand from the government an explicit apology for the attacks on churches, monasteries and convents. The Vatican protest, while not blaming these attacks on the Republican government, asserted that violence against religious orders does not represent a general political tendency, but is the result of the anti-religious odium of a small minority of Spain.

PRAJADHIPOK, king of Siam, underwent a successful operation for the removal of a cataract from his left eye, and is recovering nicely at Ophir hall, the Whitelaw Reid mansion in Westchester county, New York.

He was an excellent patient and, being under only local anesthesia, he knew what was going on and co-operated in every way with Drs. J. M. Wheeler and T. M. Johnson, who performed the operation. When the cataract had been extracted his majesty said: "I see the light."

FIFTY railway executives have united in asking an increase of freight rates that would bring $450,000,000 more revenue to their roads, but it will not be granted without a fight. Duncan U. Fletcher, senator from Florida and ranking Democrat on the senate commerce committee, voiced the opposition to the plan. He called for lower rates rather than higher carrying charges and said one reason why trucks were moving so much freight today was because of "high rail rates."

"I cannot see how the railroads can expect to increase their revenues by increasing rates," he said. "Some ten years ago an increase of 40 per cent was allowed the railroads and this brought the rates up to the highest point ever reached. They have been revised downward by the Interstate commerce commission in 5,000 out of 6,000 cases brought."

"Today the railroads complain of a loss of business and lay a good deal of that to competition by trucks and to some extent airplanes. Undoubtedly they would increase their revenues by raising the rates provided they could carry the same amount of tonnage, but it is perfectly obvious that one reason why trucks are moving so much freight is because of the high rail rates. Consequently if these rates were increased there would be an inevitable decrease in tonnage."

Freight rates on live stock from western points into Cleveland were attacked by the chamber of commerce of that city in a complaint to the Interstate commerce commission asking a reduction.

ONE of the world's greatest scientists, Prof. Albert A. Michelson, formerly of the University of Chicago, passed away in Pasadena, Calif., after a long illness and was laid to rest in Altadena. He was the recipient of all the honors the world of science could bestow, not the least of which was the Nobel prize for his achievement in measuring the speed of light, and it has been said that his discoveries and inventions added billions to the wealth of the world; but without he was exceedingly modest and unassuming and always declared he carried on his great works in physics because they amused and interested him. Doctor Michelson was a native of Poland but was brought to the United States when a babe and was educated in San Francisco and the naval academy at Annapolis. Two years after his graduation he went back to the academy as an instructor, and it was then he began the experiments and investigations that continued throughout his long life.

Another eminent man, Eugene Yeays, master of the violin, died in Brussels, Belgium, at the age of seventy-two. He is survived by his American wife, the daughter of Dr. Herman Dinch of Brooklyn, N. Y., whom he married in 1927.

Walter A. Strong, publisher of the Chicago Daily News and one of the most forceful figures in American journalism, died suddenly of heart disease. He was only forty-seven years old. He became publisher and principal owner of the News in 1925, after the death of Victor Lawson.

SECRETARY OF State Henry L. Stimson, in an address on United States foreign relations and especially American policy toward Latin America, served notice that our army and navy will not be used to collect debts from foreign nations. At the same time, he made it clear, the present administration would give to Americans who have investments abroad all the protection, counsel and assistance to which they are entitled under international law.

Defending the Hoover policies in Nicaragua, which have been attacked, Mr. Stimson declared the administration was not departing from American traditions, adding that "the United States would continue to be zealous in its concern for the lives of its nationals wherever they may be found. He characterized the current policy toward Latin America as one of removing sore spots which have injured good will and American trade."

Mr. Stimson expressed confidence that the Anglo-French negotiations would eventually be successfully concluded, expressing the opinion that a great stimulus had been given the prospects for success of the league conference on general disarmament to be held next February.

Cultivation of good will between nations was described by him as "the great business of diplomacy." "Honest people in one nation find it notoriously difficult to understand the viewpoint of honest people in another," he said. "State departments and their ministers exist for the purpose of translating the viewpoints of one nation into the terms understood by another. Some of our most important work and efforts at the present time lie in this direction."

Now is the time to do some of that hand work you have been intending to do for so long. You will find it great sport. See if you can outdo your family, your neighbors and your friends.

The Log Office Says

Interesting bits of news and comment about Northeastern Michigan gathered by the E. M. T. A.

Out beneath the sky—the hushed roar of a river lulling to rest—the scent of pines, leaping fish, the fire that crackles at evening—these are calling to millions of men and women throughout these United States, yes, throughout the world. And those millions will go where they can find rest, recreation, gaiety, solitude, social life, and the hundreds of things that people want at vacation time.

Michigan is blessed in abundance with all these and more—she is calling the world and the world will come if every native of our state lends his voice to the appeal.

"Water, water, everywhere and every drop a drink," just about describes Ogemaw County. It seems that wherever someone drills a hole water shoots forth—clear as a crystal and cool as an autumn breeze.

There's a strange fascination in watching these flowing springs—day after day, year after year, the water pours forth, gurgles, and goes laughing into history.

Michigan is telling the world. "The Women's City Club Magazine of Detroit" carries two beautiful landscape photographs of Michigan beauty. Four scenes of lakes and camping grounds help support the inviting tenor of a story in the "Ohio Motorist." Newspapers are lending editorial to make known the over-appealing appeal of our state and the value of the tourist business to our people. A touring magazine outlines a Great Lakes tour and features Michigan in the route. "American Poultry Association News" describes the beauty of the country surrounding Bay City in an article telling of the association's convention there, August 3-7. And E. M. T. A. leads the field, supplying pictures, stories, information and encouragement to all who are interested.

Prof. E. V. Jotter in Bay City proposed a plan that should appeal to everyone—the planting of community forests. Just outside the city, trees planted in a certain fixed area of land purchased for the purpose by citizens of the town. Forever after the planters would "thrill to the growth of this living memorial. Progressive communities in Michigan have left this field practically untouched.
